Mrs. Muskat, the other woman in a love triangle, is being portrayed by Lorraine Davidson.

Continuous action will be maintained through use of a unit set designed by Mr. Harrison McCreath, speech instructor. Stage construction is under the supervision of Jim Lioi and Doug Morrisson.

Having decoded his anemometer reading, today's forecaster keeps his raincoat handy and predicts increasing cloudiness. Temperatures yesterday ranged from a high of 46 to a low of 27. Skies were overcast in the afternoon and light winds prevailed.

Camp Miniwanca Committee Will Show Movies Tomorrow

Color movies of Camp Miniwanca, leadership training camp, will be shown in Morris Dailey auditorium at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow. This movie is sponsored by the ASB Camp Miniwanca selection committee.

Camp Miniwanca is sponsored by the American Youth foundation, a non-profit organization whose purpose is to train leaders for all walks of life. The camp is located on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan.

In a recent letter, camp director P. G. Orwig sent four application cards which will be used for those attending camp this year. Three delegates from San Jose State college attended last year's camp meeting, but this year's quota has been increased to four, plus one freshman scholarship, according to Marsh Pitman, committee chairman.

Camp dates for 1950 sessions are July 31 to Aug. 27 for the older girls camp, and Aug. 14 to Aug. 27 for the older boys camp.

Three scholarships from the ASB, and one from the Danforth foundation on campus, are provided for the delegates. Candidates are chosen on the basis of balanced development and participation in activities.

Further information may be obtained from Dean Paul Pitman, Dean Helen Dimmick, or Dr. Carl Rich, Danforth associate on campus.

Vaum Schedules Council Meeting

There will be a meeting of the sophomore class at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in 210 in the Science building. The meeting was announced by Dick Vaum, class president, who said that the principal business to be discussed is the sophomore sponsored dance, "Candy Capers", to be held soon. Vaum urged all sophomores to attend the meeting.

Student Council To Ponder Sports, Lecture Series

A proposed switch in the intramural sports arrangement and a possible lecture series for San Jose State are items to come before the Student Council at its first weekly meeting this afternoon at 3:30 in the Student Union.

Ted Mumby, director of intramural activities, believes that the student body could, and should, bear the cost of the various awards given the winning teams.

Council member Jack Scheberies heads the council committee working with Mumby on the proposed switch.

ASB President Don Schaeffer favors the idea of a lecture series. This afternoon the council will take steps toward investigating the value, cost, and arrangement of such a series.

Entries Come In For Spartan Baby

The first two entries were received today for the "First Spartan Baby for 1950", according to Bill Simons, business manager for the Spartan Daily, and official of the contest.

The entries to date are unconfirmed and unofficial. Because of secrecy, the Spartan Daily has been unable to secure the names and date of birth for the two new arrivals.

Unannounced pictures of the baby nuzzled, pictures of the baby and his parents will appear in the Spartan Daily.

Pritchard Seeks Revelries Talent; Tryouts Tonight

"Even if you don't think you have talent, show up for Revelries tryouts tonight. We may think differently," Dick Pritchard, Revelries director, urged yesterday. "The need for new faces is of prime importance, and everyone has an equal chance," Pritchard said.

Tryouts will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium. Tomorrow night is the last chance for interested students to tryout.

Pritchard promises that "Low Button Shoes" will be one of the outstanding student body sponsored projects this year.

"Don't hesitate! Act now!" the director stated.

Truman Introduces Budget

NEW BUDGET

President Truman yesterday sent to congress a budget putting the country more than $5,000,000,000 deeper into the red and calling for a $3,000,000,000-a-year boost in the social security payroll taxes.

The president voiced confidence that his recommendations will provide a "solid basis for moving toward a budgetary balance in the next few years."

Substantially reduced spending was scheduled next year for veterans, international affairs, and

Following through with their colorful campaign of advertising for the "Black Catter's Ball," the freshman class will hold a parade tomorrow at 11:30 o'clock, starting at S. 10th and E. San Carlos streets, according to John Fuller, dance publicity chairman.

Leading the caravan will be the freshman beauty queen contestants riding atop a convertible.

Other advertising stunts being used to push the semi-formal dance are now on display around campus, and decorating the Morris Dailey corridor is a life size blonde mannequin in a black cat costume. Publicity Chairman Fuller may be seen in his "Knight in Shining Armor" garb urging students to buy bids for $1.75.

"All freshmen are asked to purchase bids for this dance, which we hope will be the most outstanding in freshman class history," says Tom Evans, general chairman.

The ball, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m., will be held Friday night at the Scottish Rite temple. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shirley will be among the patrons.

Air Squadron To Show Movie Of Air Advance

A special Airpower meeting of the San Jose squadron, Air Force association, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Ste. Claire hotel, according to Lt. Col. Thomas A. Lee, PAS&T.

The program, Lee stated, will consist of a double feature motion picture of interest to all air minded persons, especially to those interested in aeronautics. The first picture is "Target: Peace," a new film produced by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation.

According to Bernard Barrett, commander of the local squadron, this film factually relates the story of the B-36 super bomber through all stages of inception, design, engineering, manufacture, and operation by the eighth and 15th Air Forces of the Strategic Air Command.

In a letter to Col. Lee, Barrett said "the film hints at greater developments of the B-36 just ahead." The film also shows scenes of the latest B-36, the "D" series, which is equipped with four jet engines in addition to six propeller-driven power plants.

The second film on the program is an equally outstanding one, according to Barrett. This picture, "The Story of the Flying Wing," displays the latest advances in aeronautics and is the story of the development and production of the Flying Wing.

agriculture. Mr. Truman advised congress of increased spending programs for national defense, welfare, housing, education and research.

CO-ED LEAPS

University of Arizona officials are investigating the leap of a freshman co-ed from the third story of a campus dormitory early yesterday morning.

The girl, Joyce Flynn, 18, Good-year, Ariz., fell into the patio of Maricopa hall, a women's dormitory, at 1 a.m., three minutes after returning from a dance.

Too Long in the Tower

Traditionally, state colleges and universities are isolated—and insulated—from the outside world. This is an unfortunate tradition. San Jose State college, admittedly no precedent-setter in years past, clings tenaciously to this "ivory tower" idea. While some instructors bring guest speakers into their classrooms, the entire student body is given few, if any, opportunities to hear worthwhile visiting lecturers.

Some state colleges and universities, aware of their responsibilities to their students, struggle to make their institutions a part of their communities. Our administration, on the other hand, seems to be pursuing the safe and sane course—ignoring speakers whose ideas might disturb the even tenor of life here.

ASB President Don Schaeffer and the Student Council have indicated they plan to press for a lecture series for San Jose State college.

We second this—and raise the ante. How about a joint student-faculty-administration speakers bureau? Such an agency could set up a lecture series, invite speakers and arrange financing and publicity. Lectures, whether free or paid admission, should be open to all students—even given in split sessions so all can attend.

Let's climb down from the tower and take a look at the world. For too long we've been following tradition—along the safe and sane course to intellectual stagnation.

In Sympathy

The Spartan Daily joins the entire student body in extending sincere sympathy to College President Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, his son, and his daughter in the passing of their wife and mother.

The Daily believes that it expresses the view of all San Jose college students in saying that the bereavement of a man as much a part of campus life as President MacQuarrie, is a loss to the college itself.

Superman Cometh; An AB In 30 Hours

INDIANA UNIVERSITY. — A college education in thirty hours is nothing to be sneezed at. But it's not impossible. At least it wasn't for one seventeen-year-old boy at the University of Chicago, who passed a thirty-hour entrance examination, which showed he had the equivalent of a college education.

So, instead of four years of college work, he is beginning work on a master's degree without ever attending an undergraduate college class.

Unless this is an indication that the age of Superman has arrived, it's a safe bet that colleges and universities will not suffer from a lack of undergraduate students and an abundance of "graduates" who never went to college.

195,000 Deaths

Early Treatment Will Cure Most Cancer Sufferers

Cancer deaths this year are expected to exceed 195,000 according to the American Cancer society. But the society says that most cancer can be cured if treated early.

The seven danger signals which may mean cancer are:

- 1) Any sore that does not heal;
- 2) A lump or thickening, in the breast or elsewhere;
- 3) Unusual bleeding or discharge;
- 4) Any change in a wart or mole;
- 5) Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing;
- 6) Persistent hoarseness or cough;
- 7) Any change in normal bowel habits.

The association says that not every such symptom means you have cancer. But all of these symptoms have been known to have resulted in cancer.

What is Cancer?

Cancer is the uncontrolled growth of cells or tissues of the body. Normal cells stop growing upon reaching maturity. Cancer cells, for reasons not yet understood, continue to grow in a wild, disorganized way. If not discovered and controlled in time, they cause death.

The associations says:

Cancer is not due to a germ; Cancer is not contagious nor communicable; Cancer is not inherited.

That it is no disgrace to have cancer. The only disgrace is not doing something about it in time.

The society gives the following health rules that decrease the risk of cancer formation:

- 1) Keep the mouth, tongue and throat clean;
- 2) Keep the teeth clean and free from cavities and jagged edges that chafe the tongue or cheek;
- 3) Avoid the excessive use of tobacco, especially if it irritates or burns the tongue, lip, or cheek;
- 4) Avoid the use of food or drink that irritates the stomach or that causes irregularity in action of the intestines;
- 5) Keep the skin clean;
- 6) Have regular physical examinations by a recognized physician to act as a "check up" at least once a year. Form this habit and stick to it.

PR Class Offered At Fordham U.

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY. — Charles Fry, publicity manager of the Westinghouse Electric company, addressed the Public Relations class of the Journalism division on the basic points of commercial publicity recently.

Conducted each Tuesday evening, this is one of the twenty courses offered by the Journalism division intended to give a more comprehensive coverage of written communication. Besides the regular instructors, guest speakers prominent in the field of public relations, have been invited to address the class whenever possible.

These guest speakers tell the class of the various methods of publicity employed in their own corporations and give them an idea of public relations work in general. After each lecture there is a question and answer period during which the speaker clears up any difficulties which the audience may have.

Written assignments which are based on the material covered in the lectures and the texts are designed to give the student valuable practical experience. Although the class is mostly composed of graduate and special students any member of the college who wishes to do so may attend.

the national Campus Scene

More Respect for School Solons

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY. — Student government is making progress.

Not too long ago a tired yawn would accompany any mention of student government on the Hill. Campus politicians were called all sorts of names from "rubber stamps" to "loudmouths."

It was generally agreed that student government was a lot of "propwash" . . . "sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Fewer Students Yawn
Things are a little different now.

It is true that the yawns are still there when student government is mentioned, but they come from fewer students. And those that do yawn are at least respectful enough to cover their mouths.

Campus government, definitely picked up respect in the past year or so.

But while there is still any trace of a yawn from students, faculty and administration, student government will still be a long distance from the position it should occupy.

The main test of the effectiveness of a governing body is its direct effect upon the people it governs.

When faced with the questions—"Well, what does it do?"—"Just how does it affect me?"—our campus politicians used to hem and haw and point to WSG regulations, to social functions, and to their power to okay campus organizations.

But, beyond this, the direct effects were few. They have grown steadily in the past two years.

Delegation of Duties

Administrative officials have been delegating a good portion of their disciplinary duties to student government . . . an excellent stunt from a public relations standpoint and a godsend to the government which craves actual duties.

If student government is to truly amount to anything, it must have responsibilities to carry out. Student government will get those responsibilities only as the administration relinquishes them.

To round out the cycle, the administration will relinquish some of its duties to student government only as student government proves itself capable of handling those duties.

S. U. Rally Features Civil Rights Topic

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY. — "The right to vote wasn't merely given to us—it was won by a long hard battle in the courts," stated Franklin H. Williams, assistant special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and featured speaker at yesterday's NAACP rally in Hendrick's chapel.

Speaking on the legal status of Negroes, Williams said that Negroes flocked to the polls for the first time since reconstruction days in the last election in South Carolina.

Prettiest Girls In Atlanta, Ga?

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA. — Atlanta has more pretty girls than any other city in the United States. This is the conclusion reached by Harold Helfer, writing in a recent issue of the American Legion Magazine.

Mr. Helfer, who displays an acute sense of perception, made a personal survey of a number of cities in order to determine which city ranked number one in the feminine pulchritude hit parade. He stood on windy (?) street corners and counted the number of pretty girls who passed.

According to his calculations (as any Southerner could have told him) the South ranked far above the general average of the entire country, and in Atlanta half the girls qualified as "pretty" by Mr. Helfer's standards.

Stanford Publishes Book

STANFORD UNIVERSITY. — "Native Arts of the Northwest," a recent publication of the Stanford Press, is a picture and prose record of Eskimo and Indian culture. The book launches the "Stanford Art Series," edited by Professor Edward M. Farmer of the Art department.

The introductory text is by Robert T. Davis, director of the Museum of Fine Arts in Montreal. Photographs are by William Reagh, and the book was designed by Alvin Lustig.

Scientists now can explore unknown substances with X-rays and determine in a few minutes what elements the substances contain and how the atoms in them are arranged, by means of a new automatic instrument.

Rally Purpose

To an audience of more than 100, Alan Bergmann, the introductory speaker, stated the purposes of the rally as being to acquaint the campus with the civil rights drive now going on all over the country, and what legislation pertaining to civil rights in now in Congress.

Sandy Perry, president of the Syracuse chapter of NAACP, introduced the speakers, after giving some of the organization's history.

Dr. Stuart Gerry Brown,

head of the citizenship department of the Maxwell school, brought out the theme of the rally saying, "We need effective federal legislation to back the Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence. We have to put more firmly into practice the principles that most of us believe in."

Majority Injured

The economic aspects of discrimination were discussed by Dr. Byron Fox of the Sociology department who stated that discrimination may injure the minority, but it also injures the majority that practices it. "Those who hold down the minority are endangering their own standard of living, by not giving them the purchasing power to keep our economic structure sound."

A letter from Congressman Walter Riehlman (R-N.Y.), supporting the stands taken by NAACP, was presented at the close of the rally.

Minnesota's industrial payrolls in 1949 were approximately $1,352,000,000, which is an increase of $50,000,000 over 1948.

UP Goes Clark

GEORGE CLARK, big San Jose State center, jumped high for this shot in some fast second half action under the basket in Saturday's game with Sacramento State. Pressing Clark is Carl Youngstrom (4). Ready for the rebound are Ralph Maloof (10) and Pete Peletta (13) of Sacramento and Don McCaslin (7) and Chuck Crampton (17) of the Spartans.

Losers Benefit By New Hoop Ruling

By BERK BAKER

With all the controversy on the merits or detriments of the new two minute rule, it was interesting to note how it affected the San Jose State-Sacramento State game, Saturday night.

The new rule, for those who may not be familiar with it, states that in the final two minutes of the ball game any player who is the recipient of a personal foul not only gets a free shot, but also may take the ball out of bounds. The old rule specified that a team could have its choice of the shot, or to put the ball in play from out of bounds.

The Spartan-Sacto State game was close enough to observe the effects of the new rule on the outcome of the contest.

With two minutes remaining, the Joseans had a five point, 50-45, advantage over the visitors.

The manner in which Sacramento had turned a probable rout the score stood 7-31 in their favor at one time in the first half into a tight game was enough to give the Hornets new vigor and make them overzealous in the closing minutes.

In such a case, the new rule discriminates for the leading team. It stands to reason that the team with the edge will hold on to the ball and the trailing five will open itself to personal fouls in a desperate attempt to gain possession of the elusive sphere.

Seemingly, this would have been the case Saturday night, but it didn't happen that way.

A five point lead with two minutes to be played isn't much, especially when one figures that the clock stops on every foot of the whistle during this period. This being the case, the Spartans couldn't afford to have the opposition take charity tosses and then take the ball out of bounds and a try at a more significant two pointer.

Sacramento State wasn't guilty of a personal foul once during the final two minutes, but the Spartans were, on three occasions.

Carl Youngstrom missed on the first Hornet attempt. And the ball was taken out of bounds but the Sacramentans couldn't score. Dick Gwinn was fouled and again the visitor missed. And again no point was made on the play following the inbound pass. Pete Peletta was the final Hornet to try as the result of a personal foul. He made it, but the Sacfos didn't benefit on the ensuing inbound action.

Don McCaslin had tallied on a set up a few seconds before Peletta's attempt, so the Spartans had a firm grip on inevitable victory.

This is an exception to the rule and is one of the few times during the season that the losing team will profit by the new collegiate rule. And the way criticism is mounting against the new provision, it may be the last season it will be enforced.

Wrestlers Face 'Gators Tonight

By SAM GOLDMAN

A full card of wrestling matches is scheduled tonight in the Spartan gym when the San Jose State wrestling squad tangles with the San Francisco State team.

The grappling affair begins at 7:30 p.m. and Coach Ted Mumby's muscleds will defend their impressive 1949 record for the first time this season against the Gators.

A month's layoff has aided many of the Spartan wrestlers. Dick Campbell has recuperated from an injury received at the Olympic Club. He will be ready to defend the colors on the mat in the 175 lb. class. The host team will be without the services of 145-pounder Mickey Mendoza who is confined to bed with a strep throat. Coach Mumby has moved co-captain Bill Wardrud to replace Mendoza.

"Tonight's matches should be interesting to watch. I believe that our team is stronger this year, but tonight's events will help us in determining how strong we are," Coach Mumby said.

Slated to be one of the best matches of the season is the 165-lb. tussle between Spartan Frank Waxham and Russ Miserole. Listed as another top notch grappler will be the 128-lb. affair between Joe Kimura, who was one of the outstanding contenders in the 1948 Olympic tryouts in the East, and Ben Ichikawa, a winner in the Olympic Club match for the Spartans.

San Francisco State, coached by Burt Gustafson, will rely on grapplers Don Burbank, 121-lb.; Jerry Freidman, 136-lb.; John Holden, 145-lb.; Odolf Kelly, 155-lb.; Russ Miserole, 165-lb.; Cliff Gray, 175-lb.; and Jack Root, heavyweight.

After tonight's matches the San Franciscans invade the southland where they will battle U.C.L.A. and San Diego State. Both of these teams will meet the Spartans in the near future.

Ready for some artistic pinning on their own for the Spartans will be crowd pleasers Bill Rothwell, 121-lb.; Ralph Payne, 136-lb.; Ray Bunnell, 155-lb.; Dick Campbell, 175-lb.; and Phil Bray, heavyweight.

Along with the eight varsity matches slated for tonight will be eight events from the junior varsity squads of both colleges.

Intramural Signup Ends Wednesday

The intramural basketball sign-up ends tomorrow and all managers must turn their information forms in at the men's gym by tomorrow noon, intramural director, Ted Mumby, announced today.

The basketball tournament will begin next week and schedules will be posted on the bulletin boards of the men's gym.

Hubbard States New P. E. Duties

Former Spartan football coach, Bill Hubbard, is starting the winter quarter in a new capacity, that of athletic director at San Jose State college.

Hubbard, after four years as head mentor, moves up in the Physical Education department as an assistant to S. Glenn (Tiny) Hartranft, and will relieve Hartranft of some of his many duties.

No clear definition can be made between an athletic director and a physical education director at this college, because in a technical sense, both men will be working in complete conjunction toward the same goal, that of a smooth functioning department.

Under the state educational system, state colleges have no coaches hired as coaches, but as physical education instructors, and in his present position, Hubbard will have more time to devote to physical education work and teacher training.

This change in name from coach to athletic director, which came suddenly, will in reality be gradually stepped into by Hubbard insofar as the duties are concerned. He will be in charge of the athletic budget, schedules, handling of the men, NCAA program and financing.

At the present time, Hubbard is working on the 1950 football schedule which will be released at a later date. The Spartans will not be playing in the California Collegiate Athletic association, and Hubbard is trying to line up a strong independent slate.

Because of the increased enrollment in physical education at State, Hartranft's job has become too large for one man to handle, hence Hubbard's advancement.

Both men, because of their long association, should work well together under this new arrangement.

College Tourney Card Out Friday

The official schedule of bouts for the annual all-college boxing tourney will be released Friday morning according to San Jose State boxing coach Dewitt "Dee" Portal.

In making the announcement yesterday he stated that all possible efforts are being made to make the bouts as even and interesting as possible. The tourney will be held in connection with the March of Dimes drive.

The regular schedule is also due for release in a few days through the office of Danny Hill, athletic publicity director.

The best hatching entry in the 1949 Nebraska chick growing test produced 186 strong chicks from 200 eggs.
